URGE Complaints and Reporting Policy for the Department of Natural Resources

This is what was found by the NREN Pod at the University of New Hampshire on policies for handling complaints, the reporting process, resources, and possible outcomes. Some information was public; answers that were only found through follow up with contacts are noted.

The link(s) to the reporting policy at our organization are here:

- Incidents of bias, hate, discrimination and/or harassment directed at members of the UNH community and guests can be reported at this link: http://reportit.unh.edu/ or by contacting the Affirmative Action and Equity Office
- A list of University policies and protocols can be found here: https://www.unh.edu/affirmativeaction/policies-protocols-and-practices
- The Department of Natural Resources and the Environment (NREN) has no separate policy or reporting mechanism
- Are reporting policies regularly reviewed? What is the process for changing policy? Policies are currently being revised but updates have not been announced yet.
- Rates of reporting are made publicly available on UNH Box and typically updated quarterly; accessible at: https://www.unh.edu/affirmativeaction/bias-response-protocol-bias-and-hate-incident-reports

What mechanisms are available for reporting complaints, bias, microaggressions, harassment, and overt racism?

UNH is in the process of revising its reporting system, but the new system has not been announced yet. Information provided here is based on current policy and available information, last update in September 2020.

Who are the designated individuals/positions for reporting incidents?

Any member of the UNH community can make a report of an incident, including guests.

Can reports be made online? Where?

Yes, at http://reportit.unh.edu/reportform.htm

Anonymously?

Yes, if you are reporting on your own incident. If you are acting as a mandatory reporter, you cannot report anonymously.

Who do in-person and online reports go to? Who has access to see reports?
Online reports go to the Affirmative Action and Equity Office where it starts off the Bias Response Protocols (https://www.unh.edu/affirmativeaction/policies-protocols-and-practices)

Responders are charged to receive and provide an initial review of reports. These Responders are the Director and Title IX Coordinator, Affirmative Action and Equity Office; the Dean of Students and a representative of the UNH Police Department.

Are police included in the process? When and how? Are individuals accompanied by an advocate or someone from the organization?

Yes, a representative from the police is a first responder to an incident.

In the case of incidents involving sexual harassment and violence, the SHARPP office can provide trained advocates who will accompany a complainant as described here: https://www.unh.edu/sharpp/sharpp-services.

In other cases, the current UNH affirmative action policy states that a complainant may be accompanied by a support person who is a UNH student or employee (not an attorney) in any of the complaint processes involved.

● What are the outcomes or consequences for reported individuals?

According to the USNH Policy on Discrimination and Discriminatory Harassment, if a formal complaint is filed against an individual, and, after a process that involves intake, preliminary assessment, and investigation, the administrator at or above the dean or director level that has supervisory responsibility for the respondent renders a judgment that the respondent has committed discriminatory harassment, “the administrator, with advice from the Director of Affirmative Action and Equity Office, will impose appropriate disciplinary sanctions which may include but are not limited to an oral reprimand, a written reprimand, reassignment of duties, suspension with pay, suspension without pay, or termination.”

● What resources are available for individuals reporting?

This list of resources is from the UNH Bias Response Protocol (https://www.unh.edu/sites/default/files/departments/affirmative_action_and_equity_office/Policies_Protocols_Practises/bias_response_protocol_updated_04-03-2018.pdf)
