I updated and posted my lab code-of-conduct, which was previously not publicly available:

I also began to work on a "Safety in the Field" section which will be added to this page.

Code of Conduct for the sedaDNA Scientific Society

In collaboration with the organizing board, we have recently developed a code of conduct for the society and recruited mediators for reported code violations.

My plan for this deliverable was to talk with my PI about putting together a field safety plan for our lab. I brought up the idea during our lab meeting last Friday, and he is excited about it. He even suggested that it would be a good model for the department! I'm passing some of the related URGE materials along for our group to read for this coming Friday's lab meeting, and we'll be discussing how to proceed at that time. I'm not sure whether or not that will lead to anything that can be added to the document for this week's deliverable, but I'm excited to let you all know about this progress.
